Bad For Lexington Fans.

The Lexington team met the "St. Louis Star Lady Ball Players" Sunday afternoon at the Belt Line Park, and were defeated, the score being 9 to 4.

In referring to the game played at Hamilton Place, Sunday, the Herald has the following to say of Dempsey, who caught for Lexington. "The Lexington's hit for nine safe ones, but they were so scattered that only one run was made and that in the fifth inning. In the seventh with two men on bases, and Dempsey at the bat, the hopes of the locals were revived, as Dempsey had already gotten a three base hit, a two base hit and a single, but the best he could do was to strike out." The game resulted 2 to 1 in favor of the Cincinnati Eagles.

Prof. Boone was known throughout the country for his wonderful hypnotic performances. The funeral services were held at Union Church, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, and interment in the family lot at Mt. Vernon.

Mr. Leslie Clark, aged thirty-six years, died Saturday morning at 12:15 o'clock at the home of his father, Mr. James R. Clark, near Hutchison, this county. Leslie Clark was a young man of splendid habits and unquestioned honor and integrity. Early in March he was suddenly stricken with appendicitis and was hurriedly removed to St. Joseph's Hospital at Lexington, where he underwent an operation, from which he sufficiently recovered to be taken to his home early in April. For several weeks he showed signs of improvement, but complication set in that seemed to undermine his strength and vitality, and he passed calmly away, surrounded by loved ones who had so long administered to him in the hope of his ultimate recovery. He is survived by his father and one brother, Rowland Clark, of Madisonville, Ky., his mother (nee Hattie Rowland), having preceded him to the grave. The burial took place Sunday afternoon at the Paris cemetery at 3 o'clock. Services conducted by Rev. J. L. Clark, of the Methodist church with which Mr. Clark had lately united. The pall bearers were Allen Rowland, Clark Fritts, Joel Rowland, T. D. Kelley, Ashley Austin and Douglas Thomas.
